El Camino Gets Set for Vigorous Metro Schedule

Warrior roundballers, trying to forget the holiday season during which they won two and lost five, open Metropolitan Conference action Friday against a rugged quintet from Bakersfield JC.

El Camino went to the consolation finals of the Santa Ana Tourney before being knocked off by host Santa Ana. The Warriors got by East L.A. in the first round of the Sam Barry Tournament in Glendale, only to be soundly trounced and eliminated by LACC in the second round.

EL CAMINO has seen a good deal of Bakersfield during the holidays, as both teams participated in the two tournaments.

Coach George Stanich of El Camino who has seen Bakersfield in action a number of times this season, feels that "Bakersfield will be one of the three top teams in the Metro Conference this season."

The Renegades are led by a fine pair of big men, Center, Orval Elkins at 6 ft. 6 in. and Forward, Arthur White. Mark Hasen, high scoring sophomore guard, and Freshman Audie Williams make up a hot shooting backcourt combination that helped Bakersfield to an impressive holiday record.

BAKERSFIELD proved itself by reaching the finals of the Sam Barry tourney, the toughest JC tournament in the state. En route to their second place finish in that affair, the Gades downed LACC, one of the two top junior college teams in California.

El Camino will try to counter Bakersfield's better height with a strong shooting game. Although possessing a less than mediocre 4-0 record going into Friday's action, Coach Stanich's team is always a threat regardless of the competition.

Much will depend on Ron Wey's ability to get more than his share of rebounds to make up for the lack of height of his Warrior teammates.
